While London groped through one the worst fogs of the winter, a t of bitter cold wrapped itself und Europe and Asia. Shipping g the China coast was bucking ice barrier 30 miles out at sea.

Valencia Revolt Reported Quelled

Official Statement Declares Situation Has Cleared and That the Military Was Maintaining Discipline—Rigorous Censorship of News.

Madrid, Feb. 4 (AP).—Alarming reports of open rebellion of the garrison at Valencia, on the southeastern coast of Spain, were met by the government of Premier Primo De Rivera today with an official statement that the situation there had cleared and that the military was maintaining discipline.

To prevent a recurrence of the situation, however, the premier said, the government had found it necessary to fortify its position with the establishment of a strong dictatorship in the affected area.

He added that the government would not change the dates of the pending international expositions at Barcelona and Seville. Nor, he said, would the visit of the King and Queen of Denmark, who are en route to Spain, be deferred.

Rigorous censorship of news dispatches destined for outside of Spain allowed only an incomplete picture of what actually happened at Valencia. No clear account of what was described as "open rebellion" of the garrison there, or of the measures taken to suppress it, could be obtained.

A fairly logical account was current in Paris, however, that the garrison had attempted to free Sanchez Guerra. Other troops opposed the effort and what was described as "sanguinary fighting" took place.

Transport Only Vessel Running

Since the steamer Poughkeepsie of the Central Hudson Line became fast in the ice below Storm King a week ago, no attempt has been made by the Central Hudson Line to resume operations as far north as Kingston. The Central Hudson boats are now operating between Highland and New York, but it is expected that within a short time navigation between this port and New York will be resumed.

The ferry Transport and the tug Rob are the only two vessels now operating on the Hudson river at this point. The Rob is assisting the Transport in keeping its channel open.

The ice in the upper Rondout creek is of considerable thickness and a number were out skating on the creek on Sunday.

It was reported to the police department Saturday that Nicholas Bosszi of Saugerties ran in front of the car of Sidney Krom of R. F. D., No. 2, on North Front street, and was knocked down. Mr. Krom took the injured man to the Kingston City Hospital where it was found he had sustained a bruised leg, but was not seriously injured.

Sunday morning it was reported to the police department by William Carter of Pine Grove avenue that while driving a Nash sedan on Abeel street that Charles Diamond of 21 Hanratty street jumped off the back of a truck and was struck by the Nash car. He was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where it was found he had sustained a bruised leg but was not badly hurt.

County Boy Scout Rally

Will Be Held Saturday In The Armory When Contests Will Be Held—Public Invited To Attend—Parade In The Morning.

The annual County Boy Scout Rally will be held in the armory drill shed Saturday, February 9. There will be a parade in the morning at 11 o'clock. The scouts will march downtown as far as Delaware avenue and counter march uptown to The Governor Clinton Hotel and back to the armory where they will have lunch. The Scout Fife and Drum Corps of Highland will lead the parade.

The contests will take place at 2 o'clock. Much interest is manifested by the scouts over the county and some keen competition is anticipated.

Dwight Parker of Troop 9, Kingston, says that he is prepared to defend his title as the champion knottier of Ulster county. Dwight needs to be on his guard as there is a scout from New Paltz and one or two from Saugerties who are camping on his trail. It is said that a scout in Troop 1, Kingston, can tie the knots in 35 seconds. This promises to be a close contest.

Jack Zaccheo, Troop 1, Kingston, is out to win the fire by friction contest. The only trouble with Jack is that he is having a hard time to find the right kind of tinder. Jack has been able to cut the time down from last year's record of something over an hour to less than a minute. His spindle will not skate over more than half the armory floor either. He does not fear John Heiser of Troop 10 or any other scout in the county in this contest.

Red Russell of Troop 9, Kingston, has been practising fire by flint and steel ever since the last rally and if there are any scouts from Saugerties, New Paltz, Ellenville or Highland or any other place in the county who think they can beat him, let them try for he is prepared.

Flags will fly next Saturday for Walt Lardner and Aaron Dornbush of Troop 1, Kingston, for they are prepared to meet all comers in the wig wag signaling contest. Dornbush has learned that he has to talk with his hands instead of with his mouth in a signaling contest.

As for semaphore signaling, Troop 1 of New Paltz, Troop 4 of Saugerties, Troops 1 and 10 of Kingston, are in the race. However there may be a dark horse coming from the southern part of the county.

In the first aid and carriers' race, it is hard to say just who has the best chance of winning. If the team from Troop 1, Kingston, does not make a mistake and bandage the uninjured leg, they have hopes of being at least the runners up. Scoutmaster Chet Hall has spent much time in trying to teach the boys that it is the leg which is injured that needs to be treated.

When it comes to the bugling contest, look out. Bentley Bradt of Troop 1 of Highland; David Abeel, Troop 1 of Saugerties; Clifford Newkirk, Troop 1, of New Paltz; Jack Zaccheo, Troop 1, Adelbert Kinkade, Troop 9, Philip Toffel, Troop 10, and Ralph Palen, Troop 11, all of Kingston, each feels that he can blow the bugle better than the other fellow.

The special harmonica contest is open to any and all registered scouts of the county. Lovers of music are promised an earful in this contest.

This promises to be a big day for the scouts. All parents of scouts and the public generally are cordially invited to attend.

KIDNAPPING STORIES CAUSE RIOTING IN INDIA

Bombay, India, Feb. 4 (AP).—Stories of children kidnapped for sacrifice caused rioting at Baroda today in which two persons were killed and a number injured seriously.

The disturbances developed when word spread that a certain number of children were to be offered to propitiate the deity in the construction of a bridge.

Attacks in most cases were limited to Patnans, members of a Mohammedan tribe of this section of India. The dead were Hindus, however.

The kidnapping scare extends throughout the Bombay area despite authoritative statements that the fears of the people are unwarranted.

Seattle, Feb. 4 (AP).—Harvey Lee Selhaver, 36, walked into a police station here late last night and told officers he had slain his sweetheart, Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, in Kingston, N. J., August 14, 1924.

Selhaver said the slaying was part of a suicide pact, but that he ran away after shooting the girl. The pact was made, he said, when the girl told him she was soon to become a mother.

Three Cars Crash, One Man Arrested

Following an automobile crash in which three cars figured on Saturday afternoon, John Engenito of 101 Green street was placed under arrest by Arthur G. Carr, driver of one of the cars, who charged Engenito with reckless driving. This morning in police court Engenito was represented by Attorney Charles de la Vergne, who entered a plea of not guilty for his client and the hearing was adjourned to February 11. Mr. Carr was represented by Attorney Frank W. Brooks.

According to the police report of the crash Engenito was driving out of East Union street into Hasbrouck avenue when he crashed into the Packard sedan of Michael Augustine of 72 Ann street, who was driving south of Hasbrouck avenue. The Augustine car when struck was driven over into the Lincoln sedan of Mr. Carr, who was driving north on Hasbrouck avenue, forcing it over on to the sidewalk and damaging it quite badly. Augustine's Packard car was also quite badly damaged, but Engenito's Oakland coach was said not to be badly damaged.

Riding with Augustine at the time was his wife and their baby. None of the occupants of the three cars were injured.

Break in Main Floods Cellars

Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock there was a bad break in the city water main on Washington avenue, near Elizabeth street, and in a brief time the street was flooded, the water flowing into the cellars of many of the houses in the vicinity. The water department was at once notified and shut off the water as quickly as possible, and commenced the work of pumping out the flooded cellars. In the excitement someone called out the fire department on the telephone and the firemen quickly responded but found that it was a false alarm as their services were not required. During Sunday night the water in the street froze and a dangerous condition was created. To avoid accidents to traffic the flooded area was roped off. It was expected that repairs to the main would be completed some time today.

Olsen who is engaged in all kinds of roofing construction and repair work has erected a building of his own on Cornell street. The W. W. Kingston Company which maintained a branch office of its Poughkeepsie office in this city has discontinued an office in this city.

Mayors Asked To Help Farmers

Governor Roosevelt Believes Mayors' Conference Can Assist in Finding a Solution for Farm Problem.

Albany, Feb. 4 (AP).—The corner grocery store and the public market, Governor Roosevelt believes, can play their part in farm relief. He has so written the New York State Conference of Mayors, asking it to appoint a committee to study, as part of the farm relief plan, the matter of food distribution.

The farm problem concerns both the cities and rural districts, the governor said, and because of this he believed the mayors' conference could assist in finding a solution. The common point for the city and the farm district is the necessity of finding a profitable market for the farmer and of procuring food for the city dweller at the least possible cost, the governor wrote.

The farmer can get no real relief, the governor said, unless a market is found for him "where he can sell without paying all of the increased net income we provide for him in crude, unscientific and totally unnecessary costs of distribution to the ultimate consumer."

"The appalling difference in what the farmer gets and what the city housewife pays are well known and repeated investigations have also shown that on the whole no glaringly inordinate profits have been made by any of the many people whose hands, under the existing system, the farmers' goods must pass between the city line and the consumer's ice chest," Governor Roosevelt said. "It is the whole system which is at fault; it is the whole system which needs scientific study and revising."

There is but a small proportion of city dwellers willing or able to visit public markets to make their produce purchases, the governor said.

"The real final center of distribution to the ultimate consumer," he wrote, "will be the corner grocery store, and I hope while you will consider public markets as one of the agencies to bring about a reduction in the cost of living you will also give most careful study to the problem of how these stores * * * with the least expenses for overhead * * * may at the same time sell at considerably below our present retail city prices."

SEEK BOOTLEGGER IN DEATH OF MRS. BURNHAM

Chicago, Feb. 4 (AP).—The mysterious death of Mrs. Selma Burnham, wealthy and eccentric widow, had assumed many aspects of a detective "thriller" today.

Mrs. Burnham, who was left approximately $1,000,000 by her late husband, gum machine manufacturer, died Friday. Police at first believed her death the result of poisoning but have since turned to the theory of alcoholism. Today they were seeking to find from bootleggers the name of the person who supplied her with liquor.

From neighbors and relatives officers have gained the impression that Mrs. Burnham might have been given alcohol steadily by a person who knew it might cause her death.

A completely fitted bar was discovered in the basement of her home.

Police were holding Edward T. Riley, a business partner who claims that Mrs. Burnham signed 55 per cent of the manufacturing business over to him. A neighbor told police that Mrs. Burnham said Riley had given her something to drink just before she went to the hospital where she died.

The gum machine company was seized by the state yesterday pending the result of the police investigation.

CULLEN CONTINUES IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Miami, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP).—Christopher Cullen of Weymouth, Mass., continued in a serious condition today, but physicians said his injuries would not prove fatal.

W. W. Melchen, chief of detectives of Miami, to whom Cullen confessed that he slew his bride of five days, said he showed little remorse of his deed.

Cullen was found unconscious Friday, apparently the victim of a severe beating. On regaining consciousness, he told of killing his wife. The reason, he said, was that she was not doing right by him.

28 MEMBERS OF GERMAN CARGO STEAMER DROWN

Lisbon, Portugal, Feb. 4 (AP).—The waters of the Douro river near Oporto held the bodies of twenty-six members of the crew of the German cargo steamer disaster today.

The steamer was driven on the rocks during a violent gale, a hole in her side causing her to founder immediately. The crew assembled on the top deck but enormous waves jarred twenty of them into the water before they could put on life preservers. Six others held to the ship as it sank. Rescue boats did not find a trace of any of the men.

Ruzzo Is Held For Grand Jury

Police Raided His Place on Thomas Street Saturday Evening; Took the Names of About Thirty Men Found There, and Arrested Ruzzo.

This morning in police court Guerino Ruzzo, who was arrested Saturday night following a raid by the police on his pool room at 9 Thomas street, waived examination and was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of running a gambling house. Bail was fixed at $200 by Judge Schufeldt.

The raid on the pool room was staged by the police about 11 o'clock Saturday night and was in charge of Chief of Police J. Allan Wood who was assisted by Sergeant James V. Simpson and Officers Rodell, Entrott, Bowser, Welch, Burger and Hicks.

Chief Wood divided his forces, one half closing around the rear of the pool room while the other half entered by the Thomas street entrance. So effective was the raid that not a person in the building escaped and the police took the name and address of about thirty men who they found in the place.

According to the police they seized some $20 in cash together with dice, cards and other gambling material.

None of the men found in the place, aside from Ruzzo, were placed under arrest, but a number of them appeared in police court this morning to see what disposition was made of the case.

Wild Deer Are Invading City

This morning police headquarters received a telephone call from William Clare at 45 Murray street, that a doe deer had been chased by dogs in Murray street and that he had caught the deer and had it tied up. The police immediately notified Game Protector DeWitt, who took charge of the animal.

On Sunday the police were notified that there was an exhausted deer on the ice on the river off Staples Brick Company yard, and that the animal was exhausted and surrounded by a large crowd of men and boys. Game Protector Castle was notified and found that the doe had broken its leg and he was forced to shoot it.

It is thought that the snow in the mountains and lack of food are driving the deer toward the city.

His friends, however, said that he wanted to study and remained at Columbia to indulge in his desire.

Lindbergh Makes Havana in 2 Hours And 13 Minutes

Completes First Lap of Air Mail Flight To Panama and Then Hops Off For Belize—No Pomp Or Ceremony Upon Arrival.

Havana, Feb. 4 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, completing the first lap of the first air mail flight to Panama, landed at Columbia Field at 8:21 this morning, two hours and 13 minutes after taking off from Miami.

He hopped off for Belize, British Honduras, on the second lap, just one hour and four minutes after his arrival here.

The weather was favorable and Lindbergh hoped to reach Belize by mid-afternoon.

The American airman, inaugurating an airmail service between the United States and Panama by the Pan-American airways, made the hop on scheduled time.

No Pomp or Ceremony.

It was the Colonel's twenty-seventh birthday but his arrival here was completely business-like and there was no pomp or ceremony such as his landing last year, when he stopped at Havana in the "Spirit of St. Louis" on his Latin-American tour. It was in compliance with Lindberg's wishes that he was received at the airfield just as a commercial pilot.

Lindbergh's present flight constitutes the forging of another link in the constantly growing chain of aerial transportation between Latin America and the United States. The flight opens a new era for Central America in fast transportation and expedition of mails.

The route will be covered in four hops: Miami to Havana, to Belize to Managua, Nicaragua, and thence to Cristobal, Canal Zone.

It is understood the future plans call for stops at Merida, Mexico, and Tegusigalpa and Hereida, Costa Rica.

The distance is 2,327 miles, which will be flown in two days, saving 13 days over the mail boat.

With three companions and a load of 500 pounds of mail, Lindbergh nosed the giant craft out over the bay and southward toward Havana, the first stop of the long flight to Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone.

Members of the Crew.

Henry Lee Buskey was at the radio set and Col. John A. Hambleton, vice president of the Pan-American Airways Corporation, was the other member of the crew. J. T. Trippe, president of the company, also was aboard, accompanying the party to Havana.

"Well, we're off again," Lindbergh said to Hambleton, as he climbed into the plane.

The youthful pilot told the Associated Press here that he considered this flight of great significance, not only as a medium of quick transportation to Central America and the West Indies, but also because the new service would bring the nations of the new world into closer contact. He added that with the interest in aviation south of the canal, it would only be a question of time before through routes would be operating from the United States to the southernmost countries of the hemisphere.

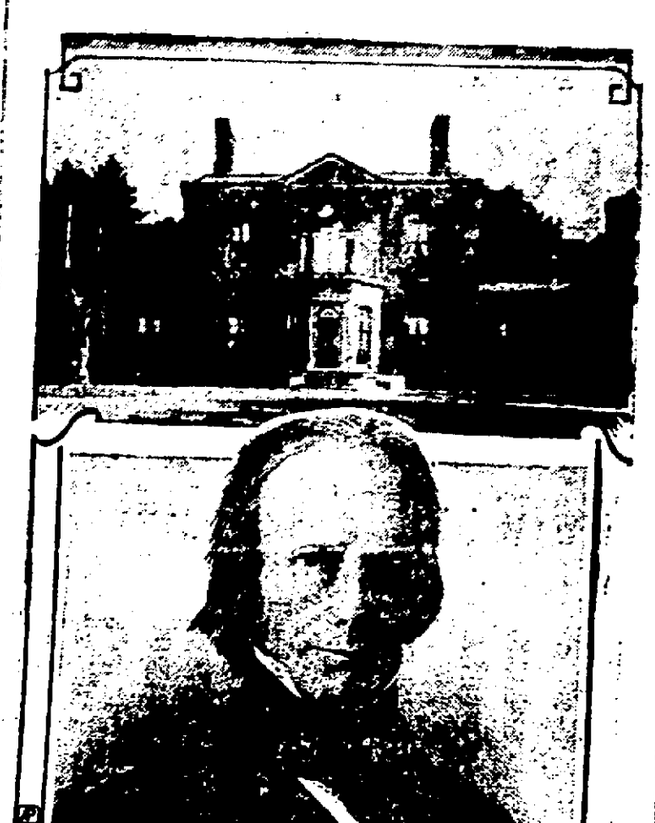
March Of Progress Leads To Old Henry Clay Home



"Ashland," the home of Henry Clay built at Lexington, Ky.

By F. D. VANOVER

(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Lexington, Ky., (AP).—The onward march of progress is leading to one of Kentucky's shrines, the broad acres of blue grass once owned by Henry Clay. The bungalow builders are nearing it.

Some day soon it may be enveloped in the encroaching modernism.

When Clay, the "Mill-boy of the Slashes," decided to leave Virginia and come to Kentucky, where his mother had already removed, Lexington, at that time the largest town west of the Alleghanies, was the place chosen. It was at Lexington that Clay made his first speech before a debating society.

His hearers were electrified and he soon, to use is own words, "rushed into a lucrative practice" in his chosen profession of law and was successively elected to the state legislature and the United States senate.

This success enabled Clay to purchase a tract of land a few miles southeast of Lexington, beautifully located. Here, in 1809, he erected a handsome brick dwelling, which ever after remained to him a beloved retreat from energetic public life. He named it Ashland.

The mansion originally consisted of a main building two stories and a half high, flanked on each side by wings the full breadth of the house, though but a single story high, to which are attached the "L's" projecting to the front.

The present mansion does not depart materially from the original plan, although years ago, during the times it was occupied by Clay's son, James B. Clay, following the death of his father, it became necessary to tear down the mansion because of some defects in the masonry. It was immediately rebuilt on the same plan, the old material again being utilized as far as practical, so that Ashland stands today an almost exact counterpart of the original.

After Clay's death Ashland passed into the hands of his son, James B. Clay, at one time charge d'affaires at Lisbon. On his death it was purchased for the use of the University of Kentucky, but again came into possession of the family when it was bought by Henry Clay McDowell, whose wife was a daughter of Henry Clay, Jr., the gallant officer who fell at the battle of Buena Vista. At present it is the home of Mrs. Thomas S. Bullock, who was Miss Nettie McDowell, a granddaughter of Henry Clay.

"There ought to be a law against it," said the ladies back in the Eighties, when a Troupe in Pink Tights were billed to show at the local opera house. However, a goodly sized crowd of males risked losing their reputations by attending the show. The burlesquers went over BIG in those days.

...by styles; velvet, both plain and figured, being popular because it is so flattering; moire because its weave is "dressy" and retains its pattern and freshness through the hardest wear, and crepe because of its graceful draping possibilities and endurance.

Velvets With Lace.

Every girl who is adequately equipped for her winter campaign will have at least one of each of these frocks. Nothing is more lovely than velvet in color or black, after the fashion set long ago by the Little Lord Fauntleroy dresses with collar and cuffs of lace. It is one of those ageless styles that fits and flatters both the young and the not-so-young, and it has been revived with enthusiasm this season.

The figured velvets in the non-crushable and transparent weaves are printed in geometrics and conventionalized floral patterns in all the new colors—the wine shades, forest, jade and blue-green, and a Japanese green which corresponds to our chartreuse; every shade and kind of brown and a great deal of blue.

Different designers are known, particularly this season, by the manner

Here is an Interesting Frock of Beige Jersey.

...in which they handle blue, and are showing many effective combinations. Two and even three shades of blue are used in one ensemble, and blue is effectively allied with green, scarlet and yellow in tones from deep orange to pale lemon.

Paris set the fashion early in the season of black for youthful frocks, which is shown most in velvet and crepe for afternoon, and in a few models from prominent houses for evening. A model for afternoon designed for the girl who prefers a hint of the sports type in all of her frocks is made by Berthe of Paris in black flat crepe.

The skirt has two plaited tiers set several inches apart and the plain long blouse-bodice with a V neck is belted with a narrow strap of black varnished leather fastened with a gilt buckle and trimmed with small bow-knots of gilt leather. One of these is placed near the left shoulder, and two close together at the lower right side of the blouse. A more picturesque style of hat is worn with these afternoon gowns, and footwear is more dainty. Chiffon stockings to match the dress, though seldom black, and patent leather, burnt copper kid or suede shoes are considered fashionable.

Even dress for young women and misses is refreshing and full of charm this season. Taffeta, flowered or in plain pastel shades; moire in light colors, velvet, chiffon and tulle are all shown in different styles. Crystal beads and paillettes are used to elaborate some of the more formal gowns, and in some models a bodice is beaded or spangled, with the skirt of plain sheer stuff, in white, black, or color.

Handbags in Novel Shapes.

A bag suitable for carrying with various costumes because of its size and simplicity, is made like a flat pouch. The body part of the bag is round while toward the top it tapers off like the neck of a bottle and then flares out. On the back is a narrow strap for carrying. The closing and opening process is achieved by a short but strong strap fastened to the top of the bag, which folds over and is fastened with a snap. This opening, which is comparatively narrow, allows for roominess inside and permits the carrying of the bag in any position without there being any danger of the contents falling out.

Greens in two shades are combined in a medium size envelope bag. The darker is used for trimming, which consists of triangles placed one over the other on the entire outer surface. Bright green moire is used for the lining and fittings, and a triangle mirror is fitted inside the bag and comes into view when the bag is opened.

Small and large pouch bags are being featured in the leading colors in plain and sports styles. Sometimes two colors are combined or again two different leathers in the same shade. These pouch bags are made with new fastenings, such as modernistic latches, flat loops, tabs and concealed snappers.

PRIZE MESSAGES TO MARS.

Why the Manchester (England) Guardian should have offered prizes for "the best 20-word message to Mars" is not altogether clear, inasmuch as the prospect of early—or late—communication with that planet, or any planet, does not appear to be very glittering. But the Guardian saw fit to make the offer, and some of the many responses, as reported, are interesting both for what they say and for what they imply. It was characteristic that many Britons, who as a people are more inclined to political "kicking" than Americans, should have seized the opportunity to say what they thought was wrong with our earth and their part of it, putting their "messages" in the form of pleas, petitions and requests for information. One dissatisfied inquirer, for example, asked: "Can you absorb 1,200,000 unemployed? Thousands (of us here) would make splendid canal diggers."

Another earnestly appealed: "If among your sages there be one capable of setting this earth right, let him do it, in God's name." A third, of a jocular disposition, asked for "a list of hotels and tariffs" and requested information as to "the state of the roads, the price of gasoline and the places of interest." But the winner of the first prize wrote briefly: "Peace on earth; good will to Mars." This was kindly but seemingly forgetful that the red planet named for the God of war is traditionally supposed to be more in need of peace than the earth. Most of the messages implied the supposition that the conditions and the humanity of Mars are altogether similar to our own. And this was inevitable, man's imagination, even in its wildest flights, being limited or colored by the realities with which he is actually acquainted.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Salvador de Madariaga, a Spanish statesman and scholar, addressing an American audience on the subject of the Monroe Doctrine, professes his inability to define that doctrine. But he has definite opinions about it.

The doctrine has grown in scope, he says, with every president, and as it now stands would hardly be recognizable by Monroe.

Professing to protect Latin-American nations, he maintains, the Monroe Doctrine deprives them of a normal national development. They realize this, and resent it. Spanish-American countries are not moved primarily by economic considerations, but by sentiment. Commercial-minded Americans, dealing with them, run up against a psychological wall they cannot penetrate.

Europe, he adds, is no longer seeking a foothold in this hemisphere. Yet South America may reach out its hand to Europe rather than the United States, as a protest against our self-imposed protection. Our country, he thinks, could maintain its supremacy in the New World without wounding the feelings of its Latin neighbors; if it would only refrain from flaunting this doctrine in their faces.

The matter is worth thinking about. It is of special interest at this time because of rumors that Herbert Hoover, as President, may restate the Monroe Doctrine and undertake to gain for it the sanction of all the other American republics, along with the United States.

DRAMA PERISHING?

Just as Dean Inge of London is called the "gloomy dean," we might call St. John Ervine, the British playwright now writing dramatic criticism in New York, "the gloomy critic." He finds the outlook for drama in this country "very black indeed."

"Intelligent people," he tells a lecture audience, "are steadily withdrawing their support from the theater, and the process will continue until the theater dies, possibly within the lifetime of the oldest person in this audience."

He seems to think, anyway, that the theater ought to die on general principles. "It is a clumsy, difficult, expensive method of entertainment, and the feeling is growing that it is a form of amusement that is obsolete."

That would be terrible—the death of the theater! Or wouldn't it?

Probably Mr. Ervine, however, is too blue about it. The theater has lasted for quite a while, considerably over 2,000 years, in approximately its present form, with little difference except of technique and equipment from age to age. Give it a generation yet, at least.

And then what? One thing is sure—we shall not lack entertainment. If "legitimate drama" goes, we shall have something as good or something that satisfies us as well.

It may be radio drama, visible and audible, in our homes. If drama should die out altogether, which it won't, we should still have music, and could get some reading done.

PIGS AND OPPORTUNITY.

The department of agriculture of an eastern state gives citizens some sound advice. "Persons not adapted to swine raising, or whose conditions are unsuitable for such work, should not undertake it."

Although the bulletin deals with a very limited field of activity, the advice may be transferred to any other branch of endeavor and remain as sound. In effect, it tells people to look before they leap, to study the work they plan to undertake, and to be sure they are ready to meet all its conditions before they go into it.

Such advice can be overdone. Interpreted to mean that it is a mistake ever to attempt anything new or ever to venture into untried opportunities, it becomes timid and cowardly advice.

There is a time for boundless faith in one's own powers and a time for recognizing one's limitations. If a government bulletin could cultivate citizens' ability to discriminate between the two, what a valuable document it would be!

HOME LIFE AND WORK.

I have spoken about a preacher in the old country who was in the midst of a serious church union disturbance.

He was the subject of many bitter attacks in a portion of the press, and at public and private meetings.

Notwithstanding all this, he went about his work, well, happy, and smiling.

Asked how he could maintain such a calm and happy front he replied "Everything is all right at home with the wife and children; they are all well."

I likened this man's home life to the recharging of a battery each night when he returned home, as he thus disconnected the wires of his busy troubled life, connected them with the storage battery of the home life, and thus was ready the next day for his work.

Now Glen L. Gardiner studying the lives of industrial workers, tells us that the home life of the worker has much to do with his producing his product at the factory.

He says "The worker whose home life is not healthful, who is not eating the right food, who does not get enough of the right kind of rest, is sure to lose his pep in his job.

"Observation of lunches carried by working men led to the conclusion that there is a close connection between what a man puts into his stomach and what he puts into his job."

What about this?

There isn't any question but that only three things enter into the health of the worker.

Work, food, and rest.

If he is working in an up-to-date factory he is likely getting proper light and ventilation, as he does the physical work required of him. The other two factors, food and rest, depend upon himself and his wife or housekeeper.

Clean food, well balanced in meats or eggs, vegetables and bread, milk, butter and fats, with plenty of liquids, is squarely up to the housewife. That is her job.

His rest depends upon himself. Not less than eight hours of solid sleep should be his portion, if he is going to be able to do his work properly and avoid the accidents that happen so frequently to tired workers.

Mr. Strong was a follower of the races and was the owner of "Cute, the Guideless Wonder." A number of New Paltz young men accompanied him on his trips with Cute and later after he had moved to Montana, visited him there. Besides being a ranch owner, Mr. Strong was a frequent contributor to magazines, writing poems and western articles.

Miss Eleanor Palmer has recently purchased a new four-door sedan Oldsmobile from Thomas H. Elliott.

Miss Anna B. Herrig, formerly of New Paltz Normal School faculty, and now of Mt. Pleasant, Michigan, has given to our library a beautiful picture of "The Pfalz on the Rhine." The picture has been hung in the east room and it adds much to the attractiveness of the room. Miss Herrig sent the following letter to the board of trustees, which proves interesting to all who knew Miss Herrig: Saginaw, Michigan. Dear New Paltz friends: I wish to explain my friendship to all of you through this picture for which I hope you may have a place where all may enjoy it. This is the old Pfalz on the Rhine, where history records your ancestors were shown friendship on their way to the new world. How little one knows what friendly act may become of historic value! The coming of the Huguenots to America brought a rich heritage to our land, an idealism that has influenced our social order for all time. Memory will always cherish for me the pleasures of the years I spent with you in New Paltz. Sincerely, Anna B. Herrig.

When last heard from, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Woolsey were in San Diego, California, and about to leave for Los Angeles. They report a wonderful trip.

SOME WOMAN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHO brings the ship home from sea?
Some woman.
What makes some place the place to be?
Some woman.
With all the earth through which to roam,
Japan's pagoda, Peter's dome,
What is it brings the whole world home?
Some woman.

We walk the way, and then we meet
Some woman.
And after that one place is sweet,
One woman.
Whatever wealth we sought alone,
Whatever wealth we may have known,
Here's all the wealth we long to own:
Some woman.

For this is all there is to life,
Some woman,
Some gentle sweetheart, waiting wife,
Some woman.
And even when our hearts forget
The hands we held, the lips we met,
Who prays to God to save us yet?
Some woman.

Why We Do What We Do

by M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE LOVE OURSELVES

NARCISSUS, according to the Greek myth, was the son of Cephissus, a river god, and Liriope, a nymph. Echo, a nymph, fell in love with him and pined away because of his neglect; only her voice remained. In punishment Nemesis made Narcissus fall in love with his own reflection in a lake. Narcissus in turn pined away and was changed into the flower that bears his name.

Freudians make use of this myth as an illustration of a certain type of nervous disorder in which the patient fixes his love on himself even as Narcissus fell in love with his reflection in the water. The malady goes by the name of Narcism.

In modified form Narcism is applicable to normal people as well. Like all other pathological cases it represents a distorted picture of the normal.

We are all born egoistic and self-centered. Unless the tendency is effectively checked by social contacts self-importance may lead to self-love. There are various shades and degrees of self-love from plain unadulterated conceit and egotism to megalomania.

The megalomaniac is insane on the subject of his own greatness. It is an obsession. In every insane asylum there are a number of such who regard themselves as superior mortals. They attribute their confinement to the lack of appreciation on the part of the public and find consolation in the idea that as soon as they die the world will realize the great error and make up for it by erecting monuments to their memory.

We are all in love with ourselves at the outset as infants and young children but manage to get over it after a while, after we have rubbed elbows with others and have discovered our failings. There are those, however, who remain children in this and perhaps in other respects. They never get over their delusion of greatness. Others come back to it with a vengeance as the result of some real or fancied bit of success that quite sets them up. Fundamentally the drive of self-love is the self-regarding impulse of self-assertion and the desire to show off, to do something big and impressive.

Poultry Meeting At Court House

Tentative Plans for County Organization Discussed — Will Meet Later to Make Definite Plans—Committees Named.

The county poultry committee which was appointed at the Farm Bureau poultry school met at the court house Friday. The following were present: Claude Kiefer of Flatbush, Harry Kaplowitz of Harley, H. P. Buchan of Esopus, A. P. Kaplan of Accord, C. H. Weidner of West Shokan, M. V. Bryant of Lomontville, Mrs. Frank Zelle of Stone Ridge and Albert Kurdt of Kingston.

The meeting was called to order and Albert Kurdt was chosen to act as chairman until a definite organization is formed and officers elected. The discussion brought out many problems which the poultry industry in Ulster county is facing.

The first problem discussed was that of marketing. Mr. Kaplan explained a plan which he thought would be of benefit to the producers and enable the consumers to obtain a uniform high quality product. This plan will establish a brand name. Only responsible producers are to be permitted to use this brand. An extensive advertising campaign is to be used to familiarize everyone with this high quality product.

In the discussion the fact was brought out that Ulster county is one of the leading poultry counties in the state and the quality of the stock is as good as will be found anywhere. There are more members of the certification association here than in any other county. There are also a number of poultry breeders, although not extremely large, who have some of the finest quality stock. Many poultrymen now buy their chicks from sources outside the county and in other states. The committee felt that one object of any association should be to encourage the purchase of home-grown, known-origin chicks. This would keep more money in the county and in most cases the purchaser would get better chicks.

It was also proposed that any association should stress the educational and social side also. This is to be in the form of regular meetings with some outstanding speakers and open some of the meetings for discussion of mutual problems.

After a lengthy discussion of all phases of the question, a motion was made and passed that this committee take steps to organize some kind of a poultry association. The committee then proceeded to name sub-committees which are to study the individual phases presented and report at a meeting of the committee to be held next Thursday afternoon. The committees named are as follows:

By-Laws Committee—Harry Kaplowitz, Claude Kiefer, W. R. Weber and Albert Kurdt.

Social-Educational Committee—Charles H. Weidner and Mrs. Frank Zelle.

Marketing Committee—A. P. Kaplan and M. V. Bryant.

Breed Improvement—H. P. Buchan, Harry Kaplowitz and Raymond DuBois.

The plan is to formulate definite objects at the meeting next Thursday and get them in shape to present to a county-wide meeting at a future date.

Commuter Would Like Help in His Dilemma

His breakfast hadn't agreed with him, he had lost at bridge the night before and he had to run for the 8:05. As he hadn't finished his usual cigarette on the way to the station, he stood on the platform to finish it. The train started and just as it was gaining speed, a girl tried to hop to the last step. She missed the step and was hanging on, when the commuter grabbed her and pulled her up to the step.

He expected, after the girl composed herself, a smile of gratitude or at least a few words of thanks. He did not expect the torrent of abuse which she hurled at his head.

"If it hadn't been for you," she raved, "I would have pulled myself up and wouldn't have lost my new opera pump."

The commuter, stunned, found his way to a seat and hasn't made up his mind yet whether to help women in distress or let them—help themselves.—New York Sun.

Many Strong Tributes to Virtues of Garlic

Garlic is one of the most highly esteemed and heartily despised of vegetables. The ancients praised it with enthusiasm, as a cure for all sorts of bodily ills—among them indigestion, sunstroke, tuberculosis, bronchitis and smallpox. It figures in the Bible: "We remember," the rebellious children of Israel told Moses, "the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic."

Historians say that the Pyramids could not have been built but for the garlic fed to the slaves and captives. Pliny says: "I cannot overpass the foolish superstition of the Egyptians who use to swear by Garlick and Onions, calling them to witness in taking their oaths." Garlic a god! The French do not deny it, but as a condiment they seem almost to reverence it. So also, assuredly, do the Italians, to whom it is a necessary of life.—Boston Transcript.

Good of Plants in House

The presence of plants in the house often proves a guide to the sanitary conditions existing within the domicile. If a room is so badly ventilated or dark that plants will not thrive in it, it is certainly not a healthy room for human beings. Plants are very sensitive and react quickly to any poisonous gases that might be in the air. The begonia is regarded as a guide to health. It was recently demonstrated when a begonia doing decorative service in a dining room was found to wilt in a few days. Being replaced by a second one, the same thing resulted, and it was suggested that there must be something wrong, a leakage of gas perhaps. An investigation being made, a tiny gas leak was discovered under the floor. The volume of gas was not sufficient to be detected by smell, and yet it was great enough to have an immediate action upon the plants.

Are You Run Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals.

Mrs. Harriett Grimes of 31 Shields Ave., Buffalo, N. Y., writes us: "My appetite and digestion were all upset. I was tormented with headaches and dizzy spells. My daughter advised me to take Tanlac. Now I feel so fine that I can sweep, clean or cook all day."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Woolens Become a Fashion If Not a Necessity This Winter.

New York—The smart world is divided against itself just now—some go east and some go west, but the smartest of all go either north for the winter sports or south for sunshine.

It may sound rather as if one had her locale confused when the statement is made that angora wool and wool of various other kinds are being worn at Palm Beach and Miami. Little angora turbans and berets accompany angora jackets or are worn with novelty wool cardigans and other jackets. Some of these fleecy coats are trimmed smartly with caracul or galyak for flat furs of fabric lightness are worn south as well as at the other points of the compass.

All the woolens now in vogue have not succeeded in undermining the affection womankind has for jersey. Light weight jerseys are sartorially worth their weight in gold and are made in ensembles and in one and two piece frocks as well as in separate jackets and coats. Flannel has also risen in the social scale and serge, especially white, has been reclaimed.

One of the clever little tricks fashion has turned is to emphasize the thistle down quality of wool by perforating it. Hemstitching and such treatments erstwhile foreign to woolens are employed as a decoration.

There also are very attractive Shetland and lacy woolens of various kinds which have captured the imagination of the younger set.

PRAYER WHEELS FROM TIBET AT FIELD MUSEUM

Chicago, (AP)—A collection of sacred "prayer wheels" from Tibet, on display at the Field Museum, reveals how Oriental supplicants make millions of prayers daily.

Long strips of paper, similar to stock market ticker tape, are inserted in hollow cylinders of the hand carved prayer wheel. Spinning the wheel is considered equivalent to repeating the prayer aloud.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

OFFICE CAT

By Ahrens

"Do you believe in long engagements?"

"Yes, I believe a couple should make their happiness last just as long as possible."

Even a woman of small account will run up a large one.

Filmosphere

It is difficult for an arch smile to rise superior to flat feet.

Times have changed; children used to bare their souls at mama's knee. Now mothers bare their knees instead.

Distinguished foreign visitors are welcomed with ticker tape. The obscure immigrant is more familiar with red tape.

It takes at least three generations to make a gentleman, so a bootlegger might as well content himself with his money.

Opportunity knocks at every man's door . . . . once. He fails to recognize it because the echo doesn't reach him for a year.

When Ibsen remarked "we are all so pitifully afraid of the dark," he forgot a not at all small minority that is much more afraid of the light.

If you tell some men anything it goes in one ear and out the other—and if you tell any women the same thing it goes in at both ears and out via the mouth.

The times have certainly changed, and the reason young couples can't get along together as well as in the old days, is not that they can't pull in double harness, but because both want to drive.

"Lost, somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. There's no reward offered, they're gone forever"—then what's the use of talking about it?

Mistaken Identity

"How long had you known your husband before you were married?"

"I didn't know him at all. I only thought I did.

Professor Happy says: "Just because you take a bath in private, don't think the public cant tell whether you've had one."

Although John and his wife had been married thirty years, it was said that they had never been known to agree on anything—except once.

John bought a car, and in due course learned to drive it—in a way.

When he took his wife for her first ride all went merrily until John attempted to turn a corner.

"John," screamed his wife, grasping his arm. "You're going to hit that pole!"

"I know it," said John. And he did.

Two things are sure to make a girl laugh—dimples and good teeth.

The beautiful young woman interviewed a fortune teller on the usual subjects. "Lady," said the clairvoyant, "you will visit foreign lands and the courts of kings and queens. You will conquer all rivals and marry the man of your choice. He will be tall and dark and aristocratic-looking."

"And young?" interrupted the lady.

"Yes, and very rich."

The beautiful lady grasped the fortune teller's hands and pressed them hard. "Thank you," she said. "Now tell me one more thing. How shall I get rid of my present husband?"

All men are equal, till they are found out.

Argument never settles but one thing and that is it settles nothing.

Stenographer: "Where's the boss—not down yet?"

Office Boy: "He's sick and won't be here today."

Stenographer: "My goodness! What shall I do?"

Office Boy: "With the boss away, you ask a question like that!"

"Yes, its pretty hard," the optimistic old women admitted. "I have to get along with two teeth, one in the upper jaw and one in the lower—but thank God, they meet."

Rev. W. E. Frampton Highly Indorses The New Remedy--Nu-Erb

Expresses Gratitude to Nu-Erb Man Who Told Him About This Wonderful Medicine—Tells How It Helped Him!

Many prominent and highly respected citizens all over the country have given high testimony to the great powers of Dr. French's Nu-Erb in overcoming suffering, but the experience given here by Rev. W. E. Frampton, pastor of M. E. Church of Clark, Pa., is of particular interest.

"I can highly recommend Nu-Erb for I have used three bottles and have been greatly improved in health. Stomach and kidney troubles were at the bottom of it all and must have been the cause of rheumatism through my joints that was very painful and caused me great discomfort. My liver was sluggish, too, and my bowels were habitually constipated.

"For eight or nine years I had been this way and when I was telling the Nu-Erb man recently about these troubles of mine he advised me to give Nu-Erb a trial. This I decided to do and in a few short weeks it has helped me wonderfully. My stomach gives me practically no trouble now, kidneys have been strengthened. The rheumatism is practically all gone and my bowels are acting regularly. My general health, too, has improved and I am feeling better in every way. I am very glad to indorse such a medicine."

REV. W. E. FRAMPTON.

How Nu-Erb Acts

Many people do not stop to realize that a lot of outward symptoms are really caused by some deeper trouble and nine times out of ten it is either constipation, stomach troubles, weak kidneys or a sluggish liver at the bottom of it all. Take, for instance, foul breath, that tired, drowsy, worn-out feeling, pains in the back, sore muscles, aching joints, nervousness and rheumatism. Get the vital organs working properly and these symptoms disappear.

After taking Nu-Erb a while you will notice the bowel action becomes easier and regular every day, gas ceases to form on the stomach, headaches pass off, the giddy feelings disappear, the kidneys are regulated so that backaches and painful muscles and joints are relieved. The nerves are soothed so that sleep becomes sound and restful.

At this season of the year, the entire system should be given a "house cleaning" and countless thousands who have learned its value in seasons past, will again turn to Dr. French's Nu-Erb as the ideal tonic and renovator.

Insist on getting the genuine Dr. French's Nu-Erb, which is sold in Kingston only at McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall street. The Nu-Erb man now located there will gladly tell you more fully about this remarkable medicine.

People Have More Time for Beauty, Says Coolidge

Great Body of People are Sufficiently Relieved from Pressing Necessities of Existence to Give Some Thought to the Art of Living.

Mountain Lake, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP).—Declaring that "the material prosperity of our nation will be of little avail unless it is translated into a spiritual prosperity," President Coolidge Friday dedicated the Mountain Lake Sanctuary and Singing Tower, a gift from Edward W. Bok to the American people.

The sanctuary was established by Mr. Bok as a woodland retreat for visitors from all sections of the country and designed as well to attract birds of many varieties. On it he has erected the singing tower containing a carillon of 61 bells.

A new era, Mr. Coolidge said, has come to America bringing to the people at large what in former days was set aside for the enjoyment of a fortunate and privileged few. From the raw materials, he said, a nation had been created and now the great body of people was "sufficiently relieved from the pressing necessities of existence" to "give some thought to the art of living." The useful and practical, Mr. Coolidge added, was being supplemented by the artistic and the beautiful.

Looking into the past, the President saw a constant and inexorable movement in this direction. Popular education, the free public school, the endowed college and the state university he regarded as the essential sources of the new era and to these he added the more recent development of public art galleries, public concerts for the presentation of the best music and the opening of innumerable public parks."

More Have Sufficient Resources.

But as a factor of prime importance in the movement toward the artistic, Mr. Coolidge cited "an increasing number of individuals who have sufficient resources to enable them to minister in a most substantial way to the humanitarian and artistic side of life." Some of the largest fortunes that have been accumulated in America, he added, have been devoted almost entirely to such charities.

"We can not observe this movement without smiling a little at those who but a short time ago expressed so much fear lest our country might come under the control of a few individuals of great wealth," he continued. "They claimed that the rich were growing richer and poor growing poorer. Our experience has demonstrated that the reversal of this would be much nearer the truth. So many of our people have large amounts of property that it has taken on the aspect of being common. The distinction it once carried is gone. It is doubtful if there ever was a time when even great wealth gave its possessors so little power as at present. Their money is of very little value in determining political action. Capital is so easily secured for any promising enterprise that it is no longer necessary to be rich to go into business even on an extensive scale. The possession of money has never been sufficient to gain the social attentions of people of culture and refinement."

More People of Moderate Means.

Turning to the "people of moderate means," the President asserted that the advantage enjoyed by these, including the great mass of wage earners, were never so great as at the present time. He went on to enumerate education, the automobile, the radio and the motion picture as influences bringing the beautiful within their reach.

The Sanctuary and Singing Tower Mr. Coolidge regarded as "another example of this rapidly developing movement." Its main purpose, he said, is to "preach the gospel of beauty," and he saw it as an inspiration for the beautification of homes and communities throughout the country, the members of which would visit the place and carry its praises homeward with them.

He praised Mr. Bok, whose generosity made the sanctuary possible, declaring that the donor did not wish it to stand as a memorial or monument, but rather to create a quiet peaceful spot abounding in the beauties of nature and architecture, a place of escape from the turmoil of every day life.

"It is no accident," he said, "that this superb creation which we are dedicating today, is the conception of a man whose only heritage was that of good breeding, an American by adoption, not by birth, who has felt the pinch of poverty, who has experienced the thrill of hard manual labor, and who has triumphed over many difficulties."

People Stand as Sovereign.

Mr. Coolidge pictured the nation and the states of which it is composed as having "planted themselves squarely and securely on the theory that all powers of government emanate from the people." The people, he said, stand as our sovereign, our national monarch."

"Edward W. Bok," he said in conclusion, "is making this contribution in recognition of his loyalty to his sovereign, the people. It is another demonstration that when they are given the opportunity the people have the innate power to provide themselves with the wealth, the culture, the art and the refinements that support an enlightened civilization."

TRIPLE ACTION

Ends Coughs the Medical Way. No other cough syrup has it!

Home from school with a bad chest cold . . .

Thanks to "Triple Action" Mary is back in school in two days

"MARY was sent home from school. She complained of a pain in her chest and was coughing badly. Immediately we put her to bed, gave her some Smith Brothers Cough Syrup, and called the doctor. The doctor said, 'That's right—keep up the same treatment.'

The syrup soothed and calmed Mary's cough in no time. She slept well that night and in two days she was back to school—spry and well as ever." Mrs. S. Bracer

It works!—every time—and fast! Smith Brothers Triple Action Cough Syrup stops a cough! Triple Action does the three things necessary to rid your system of a cough: 1—it soothes, 2—is mildly laxative, 3—clears air passages. Safe for children! It has the famous cough drop flavor.

She thought she had pneumonia!

Thanks to "Triple Action" she was up and about the next day . . .

"MY car got stuck in the snow. By the time I had walked home, I thought I had pneumonia! I felt feverish, sick, and I was coughing my head off.

I went to bed and took a teaspoonful of Smith Brothers Cough Syrup. Almost immediately my pain was relieved—I could breathe freer. Coughing stopped.

In the morning I was up and about and in a couple of days I had lost my cold completely.

I should say I am grateful to Smith Brothers!" Miss E. Arnone

"Now son, I'll tell you—"

FIRST of all, that running a successful household involves the application of the same business principles required in the management of any other well conducted going concern. Your salary represents the gross business—this, minus expenses, is the PROFIT of your "firm." Don't let "expenses" eat up your "profits."

Both you and your partner, over there, can cut down your expenses by investigating the market before you do any buying. When we buy supplies down at the plant, Mr. Brown, our Purchasing Agent, acquaints himself with the market through his current catalogs—price lists, and various other reports, so that when we buy, we buy RIGHT.

You can follow the same plan, read the various ads in The Freeman, they cover your market pretty thoroughly—Keep posted on your market, investigate before you buy and you'll buy "RIGHT."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Fort Myers, Fla.—Thomas A. Edison will speak to the people of the nation over the radio from his winter home here on his 82nd birthday, February 11. His son will introduce him from Orange, N. J., his favorite songs, sung by artists chosen by him, complete the program.

New York—The marital barque of Alexander Carr, who was Mawruss Perlmutter in stage production, "Potash and Perlmutter," has escaped the rocks. He made up with Helen Cressman Carr, of Follies fame.

Spring Lake, N. J.—Cannon believed to have been part of the armament of Blackbeard Teach and of Benjamin Hornigold, pirates, will be sought at the bottom of the Spanish main by Van Campen P. Heilner. He says he discovered them several years ago while making submarine motion pictures in Bahama waters.

New York—Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company will treble its newspaper advertising this year to tell the public of the vital part electricity plays in civilization. Plans call for 20,000 advertisements in 500 cities. The decision comes after two years of research into various media.

New York—The average business girl with three years' experience earns $33.50 per week, a survey by the Carroll Vacation Club shows. Of this she spends $7.56 for clothes, gives $9.53 to dependents or to church, and saves $4.75. She spends most of her leisure time reading.

Philadelphia—A great stepped altar at which the Canaanites worshipped their God Mekal nearly 3,500 years ago has been found in Beisan, the Biblical Beth-shan, by a University of Pennsylvania expedition.

Rome—Tourists are shivering in sunny Italy. There are icicles on Neptune's whiskers in the Piazza near St. Peter's; frost and ice on the walls of the Catacombs, and a blanket of snow over Apulia, far south in the heel of the Italian boot.

Mexico City—Several thousand happily "married" people have received a rude shock. The Supreme court has declared invalid marriages performed during the five-year period beginning in 1913 in certain states when ruled by "unconstitutional" governments.

Chicago—Julius White Post, G. A. R., has disbanded. The commander, arriving at the meeting, found that the three other surviving members were incapacitated. The post once had 130 members.

Winter Closes In On Byrd Expedition

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Feb. 4.—The snowstorm which had seemed imminent all the week failed to materialize for which all concerned feel just as well satisfied. However, the high winds kept portions of the dirt roads almost impassable. Saturday, February 2, the sun shone brightly which no doubt caused the inquisitive woodchuck who had emerged for mid-winter observation to beat a hasty retreat to the far corners of his subterranean digout. There to remain for another six weeks before the gentle spring like weather again calls him from his snug winter fastness. In the meanwhile all can expect to feel the icy blasts of King Winter.

On Saturday the town tractor with snow plow attachment opened the mountain road over from Branchand's farm and down across the Brodhead flats where the road had not been ploughed since the snow storm of over a week ago, which, due to the continued drifting in the snow, was in an almost impassable condition by auto over the Jordan flats. Julian Eckert with his team and road scraper was also ploughing the roads on Saturday down over the mountain road from West Shokan Heights.

Although Sunday was a crisp winter day, a goodly number attended the church services at the Baptist Church in the afternoon, all feeling well repaid for their efforts by the inspirational sermon of Pastor Ahrens, who if anyone can get through, can be counted on to make the 52-mile drive from his home at Walden.

Claude Bell, proprietor of the Watson Hollow Garage, who has been quite ill with the flu during the past week, is feeling somewhat improved.

All are sorry that Alfred Bell is still confined to the house all these many long weeks since injuring his leg last October.

This winter's ice harvest is surely an abundant one. William Colange filled his house on Friday and Saturday with 12 to 13 inch ice which was hauled by three trucks from his brother Leonard's ice pond at Boiceville. The Maple Dell and Burgher houses and Charles Dwyer are in readiness to begin cutting from the reservoir, where the ice is now said to be about eight inches in thickness. A number of icemen in the vicinity of Tongore have been busy with the harvest during the recent cold weather.

A number of local members of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge, several of whom are members of the Past Grands' Association, attended the sessions and the oyster supper which followed at the Tongore Hall on Saturday night.

Garret Mott of Flatbush, Brooklyn, a member of the family of one of the influential summer residents, has recently underwent a serious operation in a New York hospital.

William Simpson of Kerhonkson, a former local resident, on Thursday night underwent an operation for hernia at the City of Kingston Hospital.

Clarence Donohoe of Krumville, who is convalescing at the home of his brother, Floyd, at 128 Washington avenue, Kingston, is reported as improving and is pleased to receive a call from his friends in the country at any time.

Arthur Snyder of the Traver Hollow Inn on Friday and Saturday assisted at a wood sawing bee at Raymond Miller's of Brodhead, which illustrates the spirit of co-operation existing among the residents of this neighborhood.

Raymond Bell has been sick during the past week with a severe cold. He is now feeling somewhat improved.

Joe Steinlauf and friend, who have been spending some time in New York city are again at the Overlook House. Joe's many friends are glad to see him again.

The Jordan Brothers of Brodhead on Saturday butchered three fine young porkers. They also have a number to kill later.

Mrs. Abram Winchell of Brodhead Heights, spent the week with her mother, Mrs. Hannah Davis, at the parsonage.

The work on the piers of the Tongore bridge is progressing favorably considering the weather conditions.

Ernest Constable of West Shokan Heights was a business caller at Colange's store on Friday. Returning home heavily laden with parcels he in some manner sustained a fall along the roadside. However he continued his journey home unassisted, not much the worse for his experience.

The congratulations of the community are extended Mrs. Sarah Barringer of Shokan on the celebration of her eighty-third birthday, which occurred recently.

Homer Marble, Jr., of Shokan attended the I. O. O. F. lodge meeting and oyster supper at Tongore on Saturday night.

Charles Barber and son, Orville, still continue busy at replenishing of their fuel supply.

Lauten Hasley has temporarily finished his stone hauling contract at the Tongore bridge until the other abutment is completed.

William Feltman of Palenstown and Arthur Fiero of Walden were attendants at the I. O. O. F. Lodge Saturday night.

Miss Jean Humphrey of Kingston was a week end guest of her high school chum, Miss Alberta Gordon, at her home at Brodhead.

Mrs. Arthur Snyder and daughters, Betty and Jane, also Mrs. John McRoberts were Saturday callers at the home of Mrs. Chase W. Davis.

Arthur Fiero of Walden spent Saturday night as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Gordon of Brodhead.

Not many cars of local owners are freezing up this winter, due to the greatly increased use of non-freezing radiator liquids.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Burgher and son, Bobby, were Friday evening visitors in Kingston.

The many friends of Mathias Burgher are grieved to learn that he has not been enjoying good health for quite some time. All sincerely hope that he may soon be around again. His daily presence on the school bus is greatly missed by his young friends.

Some of the young folks are enjoying the sport of skiing on the snow covered hillsides, which in some cases is proving more popular than the time honored pastime of sleighriding.

Radio listeners are enjoying clear reception of late during the crisp, clear wintry nights.

"Grandma" Roosa of Bushkill is about to celebrate her eighty-fifth birthday. Although her eyesight is greatly diminished, she retains a remarkable memory and is a very interesting conversationalist, and recalls very distinctly incidents which happened before the civil war from which an interesting story could be written.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder and family were Sunday evening guests at the home of Mrs. Watson Bishop.

The freshly made tracks of the herd of deer which are wintering among the nearby thickets, are seen daily.

Marvin Burgher, who recently died in Kingston, was a lifelong resident of this community, and leaves behind him a host of friends. Mr. Burgher was a kind husband and father, also a good neighbor, always ready to lend a helping hand in the time of need. He was for a number of years a valued employe on the estate of the late Harrison Graves at Bushkill, which is now owned by Benjamin J. Winne.

The many friends of Arthur E. Trowbridge of Olive Bridge were indeed pleased to see him home for a week end vacation. He states that he felt himself fortunate in getting this short leave of absence in which it was possible to attend the meeting of the Ulster County Past Grands' Association on Saturday night. He returned to New York city on Sunday.

Dr. Dumond is still kept very busy attending the many cases of sickness throughout the community.

Miss Ollie Burgher of West Shokan Heights has not been feeling well for the past two weeks.

Ira Nichols and sons, John and Henry Bell of Brodhead, also Marvin Van Demark of Main street, and "Skin" Davis were among those assisting the filling and packing of the Colange ice house on Friday and Saturday. The force of men were also employed in the cutting and loading of the ice on trucks at Boiceville.

Mrs. Chester Buley of Boiceville is employed in Kingston and is a daily commuter on the school bus.

Locally there is a marked absence of crows this winter.

Joe and Eddie Winkler assisted by Charles Dwyer are engaged in cutting firewood on the Winkler preserves.

DECLARES THE DEVIL HAD TRIED TO DETAIN HER

Vancouver, B. C. Feb. 4 (AP)—Late in arriving at an evangelical meeting here, Aimee Semple McPherson last night told her congregation that the "Devil" had tried in every way to detain her on her way from Los Angeles.

In every city she passed through, she said in explaining the "Lost and Found" incident. Newspapers carried great headlines announcing her disappearance.

"Finally," the evangelist commented, "I think it is a shame that we should receive so much free publicity from the newspapers. I think we should get up a subscription and give them $2,500, don't you?"

After the meeting she reiterated that she was being used as a "football between two political parties" in the legislative investigation of the $2,500 "love offering" to Judge Carlos S. Hardy.

Shokan Host to Past Grands

Saturday evening, February 2, was an occasion that will long remain in the memory of all who were in attendance at the regular meeting of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge. It was called to order promptly at 7:30 o'clock by Acting Noble Grand Virgil C. Gordon. The usual business of the lodge was transacted. Under the good of the order, Past District Deputy Henry Lamoree of Catskill Mountain Lodge of West Saugerties spoke briefly of the cordial welcome which always awaited him at Shokan Lodge on visits of himself and brothers of his lodge and of the friendly spirit which always seemed to prevail among the members of Shokan Lodge. Past District Deputy Arthur E. Trowbridge of Shokan Lodge was in attendance, having in some way slipped away from his employment in New York city that he might be able to attend the meeting. Brother Trowbridge also spoke briefly in his own inimitable way. Following this the lodge was closed and there followed a visiting and get-together meeting among the brothers and various delegations of past grands who had by this time arrived.

At 8:20 the newly elected president of the Past Grands' Association, Henry Lamoree, called the meeting to order and all brothers who were not past grands retired to the auditorium below to await the end of the session. Past President Arthur E. Trowbridge in behalf of Shokan Lodge greeted the assemblage in an address of welcome. Past Grands Leroy Davis and Irving Cornish were then received and introduced into the mysteries of the Past Grands' Association. The new members were welcomed by President Lamoree after which followed transaction of the business of the association. The secretary, District Deputy Sidney A. Johnson of Aretas Lodge, No. 172, spoke at length on the objects and possibilities of the association and the good which had already been accomplished and of the work remaining to be done among the weaker lodges of the district.

Several other past grands of various delegations also made interesting and instructive remarks. Brother Henry L. Winchell, one of the oldest members of Shokan Lodge, who resides at Kingston, told a story of "Pat and Mike" which caused an uproar of laughter among everyone present. A roll call of the lodges of the district was made, to which delegations of the lodges rose to their feet as the names of their lodges were called. Delegations answering the roll call were Catskill Mountain, West Saugerties, William H. Raymond, Saugerties, Bearsville Lodge, Aretas and Kosciusko of Kingston. The largest delegation, of course, was from Shokan. Weather and road conditions and sickness throughout the district no doubt prevented a much larger attendance. The present membership is 112 members and it is hoped that during the year this number may be as least doubled, which it was said should be an easy matter. The date of the next meeting was set for April 6, at the home of Catskill Mountain Lodge of West Saugerties, after which session was closed following divine invocation by the chaplain.

The assemblage then retired to the spacious auditorium down stairs, where tables were set and a steaming hot oyster supper with all the trimmings was served and greatly relished by all present. Credit is due Mrs. William Davis and her daughter, who prepared the supper, which was pronounced "unbeatable". The visiting delegations under direction of President Lamoree rose and gave three rousing cheers in acknowledging their appreciation to Shokan Lodge, which was in a feeling manner acknowledged by Past President Trowbridge.

The supper was followed by a visiting and social hour before the gathering broke up at midnight and all expressed themselves as feeling well paid for their endeavor to come out even though the roads were somewhat drifted in places and the wind in some sections blowing a gale. Parting words were: "If all good fellows would Odd Fellows be, what jolly good fellows all fellows would be".

CROSBY ASKS TO OPEN DEFAULT.

A motion to open a default taken at the December term of the supreme court was made Saturday before Judge Foster at special term. Chris J. Flanagan, who appeared for John Crosby, asked that the case be reopened and the defendant be given an opportunity to defend an action for assault brought against him by Lester Norton of this city.

The case which went by default at the December term resulted in a verdict for $1,500 for Plaintiff Norton against Crosby. According to the testimony taken at that time and which was not denied, Norton attempted to interfere in a fight which was in the process of taking place when he entered a Foxhall avenue soft drink place. When he told Crosby to stop striking a man named Otis he said Crosby struck him and inflicted severe injuries which sent him to the hospital. He alleged that he suffered a broken leg and other injuries. At the time the complaint was drawn Norton's injuries were unhealed and $10,000 was asked but later on trial when the injuries had become better the amount asked was reduced to $3,500 and the jury awarded plaintiff $1,500. Lloyd R. LeFever appeared for Norton.

In asking to re-open the case Mr. Flanagan stated that Crosby had first learned of the matter when he read in the newspapers that a verdict had been secured against him. He claimed that he did not know the case was to be tried. Mr. LeFever opposed the re-opening of the action. Decision reserved.

Private Life Of Oyster Seen As Matter Of Public Concern

Dr. Galtsoff in laboratory where he has unmasked the innermost secrets of the oyster.

Washington, (AP).—Since more oysters than human beings attend the dinners of the great, it has occurred to at least one scientist that the private life of these gentle creatures may be a matter of some public concern.

In a somewhat formal expose of "The Private Life of the American Oyster," Dr. P. S. Galtsoff of the bureau of fisheries credits the oyster with a sense of taste more refined in certain respects than that of its human admirers.

"It has been found," he says, "that the oyster reacts to the application of quinine and detects this substance in a concentration four times weaker than the minimum which can be noticed as applied to the human tongue.

"Apparently a well developed sensitivity is a compensation which the oyster obtained for its loss of power of locomotion and absence of special organs of vision and hearing."

Its ability to protect itself from poison, he explains, has been measured by putting different quantities of potassium salts and other chemicals in water where it was feeding.

Efficient though they are, however, the oyster's organs of sense are few, being confined to a double row of tentacles or feelers on the edge of each mantle, the soft layer of membrane which can be seen covering the creature when it makes its appearance on the halfshell.

When the shell is open and the oyster is feeding, Dr. Galtsoff relates, the tentacles expand and stick out into the water, ready to contract at the first warning of danger through any mechanical disturbance or change in the intensity of illumination or chemical conditions.

As the tentacles draw in the mantle contracts, the big muscle which holds the shells together closes them, and the oyster may—if oysters can—revel in the sense of security which man enjoys when shut up in a warm, cheerful room on a stormy winter night.

The oyster's nervous system is a possession which might be envied by many a jumpy dinner guest. It is so simple that, no matter what distressing occurrence is forced upon the oyster's attention, it always acts in the same way, shutting out trouble by closing up the shell and letting the rest of the world go by.

Mothers Warned Against Too Much Dosing for Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic lies in the complications which attack the weakened system. A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins upset the digestion, especially in case of children.

Too much "dosing" further upsets the digestive system and lowers the resistance to more serious diseases, such as bronchitis, sinus trouble, abscess of the middle ear, or even pneumonia.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion. Nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Legends Enfold "Gem Of Missions" In Texas

San Jose mission at San Antonio, Texas., was built by Spanish priests more than two centuries ago.

San Antonio, Tex.—Those who pause before San Jose mission see only fragments of the beauty which has made it known as "the gem of missions."

Treasure seekers, neglect and time have ruined many of the elaborate ornamentations. The mission was built about 1720 and all the work was done by priests.

The delicate carvings of the famous "rose window," which has been studied by architects from all parts of the world, are said to have been made by one Huicar as his expression of despair over an unrequited love. The legend is that Huicar, having amassed a fortune as a conquistador, was returning to Spain to be married when he learned that his intended bride had married another. He donned the robes of a priest.

The cloisters still stand, although they are roofless. The smaller chapel at the base of the tower is intact and masses are still said there for Mexican families. On its walls hang three paintings, brought from Spain, which are so faded the subjects can scarcely be made out.

The tower is one of the most interesting parts. A spiral stairway, hewn from the trunk of a single tree, leads to the belfry. The tower collapsed some time ago, but photographs made possible the replacing of almost every stone in its proper place.

The belfry once held a carillon noted for its beautiful tone. Legend says this tone was due to gold thrown into the crucible when the bells were cast in Spain. Don Luis Angel, who was to marry Teresa, had gone to Texas, where he met death and was buried in the shadow of the tower at San Jose.

Teresa, realizing the bells would peal a requiem over his grave, walked to the crucible and threw in the golden ornaments he had given her. Only a few of the bells are left, and these are in a San Antonio museum.

Another legend about the building—that priests had buried a great treasure near it—has caused gold hunters to burrow under the foundations, and these excavations are blamed for the collapse of the roof and the tower.

San Jose is older than the missions in California.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 4 (AP).—The stock market turned reactionary today after an early interval of strength. The selling probably was inspired by the calling of $29,000,000 in bank loans and the possibility that call money might rise above the renewal rate of 7 per cent. Professional traders also showed a tendency to take profits prior to the publication late today of the stock exchange member loan statement. This is generally expected to show an increase of about $300,000,000, due in part to new listings of about $1,700,000,000 last month.

Speculative opinion is still divided over the possibility of an increase in the Bank of England or New York Federal Reserve rediscount rates this week, although the former rate is likely to be changed first. London dispatches indicated that money rates were easy there, leading to the possibility of further gold imports with sterling hovering around the "gold import" point. Any increase in the New York call rate is likely to be temporary.

Railroad shares were heavily bought during the morning as a result of the favorable character of the current traffic and earnings' reports and the revival of merger rumors, but the gains were cut down or cancelled in the early afternoon selling movement. Jersey Central quickly added 8 points to its 25-point gain of last week and Western Maryland, Reading and the Chicago and Alton issues were among those to move into new high ground. New York Central and Illinois Central sold down 3 points or more.

Buying in the industrial group was of a selective character. Advance Rumely, in which Wall Street hears there is a three-cornered battle for control, ran up 8 points to a new high at 74¼. Devoe and Raynolds, Congress Cigar, Westinghouse Electric, Collins and Airman, Kelsey-Hayes Wheel and American Brake Shoe and Foundry advanced 4 to 6 points to new high levels for the year and then ran into profit-taking.

Bethlehem Steel, which recently resumed dividends on the common stock, ran up more than 6 points to a new high at 93½, but U. S. Steel common sold down from 186½ to around 184, or a point or so below last week's close.

The funeral of George S. Allen was held at the residence of his parents, 33 Lucas avenue this afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Allen died unexpectedly on Friday, February 1. He was a student at Albany Law School and came home in November suffering from a severe cold. His condition improved and he was on the way to recovery, when on last Thursday he had a relapse which proved fatal. He is survived by his father, Edgar V. Allen and his mother, Gertrude M. Allen and by a sister, Mrs. James Davis. George S. Allen was born in Kingston and attended the public schools here. In 1917 he entered Kingston High School, and his genial disposition and ready wit soon made him a favorite among his students and instructors. He was a good student, a talented musician and always took part enthusiastically in the social and athletic affairs at school. He was Captain and center of the championship Midget basketball team of the 1919-1920 season. He was called upon on many occasions to assist in the production of school minstrels and plays. He made a lasting name for himself as a musician and minstrelman and none of his schoolmates will forget his ability and versatility along these lines. Indeed a minstrel or play at High School was not a success unless "Itch," as he was affectionately known, participated. He graduated from High School in 1921 and entered Washington and Jefferson University at Easton, Pennsylvania. He completed his college course in June, 1925, and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. At college, he was a member of Lamda Chi Alpha Fraternity and of various musical and dramatic organizations. During the summer recesses from college, George was employed by the Standard Oil Company and also later was employed with the Hudson River Day Line. He always conscientiously applied himself to his tasks and received the commendation of his employers for his faithful service. Previous to taking up the study of law, Mr. Allen was associated with Attorney Frank W. Brooks of this city. While at Law School he devoted his efforts and time to his studies and was an honor student at that Institution. He made many sincere friends at Law School, and was held in high esteem by the Faculty. His ability as a scholar and his high standing among his class mates is attested by a letter which was received by his parents from the Faculty of Albany Law School. This letter states in part: "During his attendance here we became attached to him, as did his classmates, for his genial disposition, his faithfulness toward his work, and his deep interest in the activities of the school. His record here attests to his success, and we are privileged to be able to honor his memory."

Milton Man Held For Grand Jury

Milton, Feb. 4.—Morgan Dayton, 19, was held in $1,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury by Justice of the Peace J. Harold Clarke Saturday when arraigned on a charge of alleged assault committed on Miss Gertrude Holden, 20 of this place.

The alleged assault took place on Wednesday evening while Miss Holden was going to her home. She was on the lonely road in Milton that leads to the river. According to her story Dayton attacked her from the rear and threw her to the ground. A struggle followed but her assailant was scared away by several men who happened along. They said they recognized the attacker as Dayton.

Y., and one visiting sister, Mrs. Grace Mason, of White Plains, N. Y. During the evening the 20-year pins were presented to Mrs. Eva Smithson, Mrs. Julia K. Soper, Mrs. Maude Stratton and Mrs. Christina Schline by the president, Mrs. Kathryn Liscom. Between courses the members sang several songs, composed by Mrs. Kathryn Liscom. A solo was most beautifully rendered by Mrs. Liscom, which was enthusiastically applauded by the members, after which a huge bouquet of white roses was presented to Mrs. Liscom. After the banquet Mrs. Sophie Church very ably presented the lodge history, which was most interesting. At midnight each member was presented with a silver rose before departing to their homes. Much credit is due all members who, through their untiring efforts, made the jubilee a success. Especially Mrs. Sophie Church, Mrs. Jennie Hubbard, Mrs. Liscom and Mrs. Agnes Powers.

Society Notes

The Coterie.

Mrs. Eastman was the hostess of The Coterie on Saturday afternoon. The contemporary novel considered was Jennie Gerhardt by Theodore Dreiser. Mrs. Smith gave an excellent character sketch of Jennie Gerhardt. Two Critical Views of Dreiser were admirably given by Mrs. Terwilliger and Miss Hale gave an entertaining reading from the same book. Mrs. Reeves will be the hostess of The Coterie at its next meeting.

Gilbert-Smedes.

Effie Smedes of Rosendale and Ralph Gilbert of Glenerie were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Flatbush Reformed Church by the Rev. A. V. S. Wallace Sunday, February 3, at 1:30 p. m. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Countryman, a sister and brother-in-law of the bride. The bride was gowned in pink taffeta and her sister wore peach georgette. Many friends and relatives wish the bride and groom a long and happy married life. They will make their home on Albany avenue extension.

Gronemeyer-Schoonmaker.

The Livingston Street Lutheran Church was the scene on Saturday afternoon, February 2, at 4 o'clock, of a notable wedding when Helen Salome Schoonmaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman P. Schoonmaker, and Frederick Charles Gronemeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Gronemeyer, were united in marriage by the Rev. Ernest L. Witte, pastor of the church, in the presence of many friends. As the guests were assembling in the church, which was decorated with palms and flowers on the altar, the organist, Miss Lydia M. Dornself, played the following organ numbers: "Oh Perfect Love" by Barnby; "Cavatina" by Raff; "Salut d'Amour" by Elgar; "Andantino" by Lemare; "Traumerl" by Schumann and "Love Song" by Nevin. To the music of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bridal party proceeded to the altar, the bride, who was lovely in a gown of ivory duchess satin with lace bertha and trimmed with pearls and lace, was escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a princess veil of tulle and lace with a cap of pearls and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and white orchids. The maid of honor, Miss Beatrice P. Brown, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of rose taffeta and net and on her hair a pearl bandeau. She carried pink rose buds. The bridesmaid's wore costumes of like design: Miss Helen Gronemeyer, sister of the groom, a peach colored moire dress, Miss Dorothy Schoonmaker, cousin of the bride, blue moire frock; Miss Charlotte Jones, a dress of green moire; Miss Doris Cotter, classmate of the bride, from New Haven, Conn., a frock of orchid moire. Each of the young ladies wore a beaded bandeau and all carried old fashioned nosegays. The two charming little flower girls were Natalie and Marjorie LaTour, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herman LaTour, who were dressed in French frocks of pink trimmed with flower wreaths on their hair and each little lass carried a basket of tiny flowers. The best man was Robert Ezra Knorr of Hudson, classmate of the groom. The ushers were Harry Gronemeyer, brother of the groom, Arthur Arlt, fraternity brother of the groom from Troy, N. Y., Theodore Haines, Watson Bailey and Clifford Smith of this city. During the ceremony Herman LaTour sang beautifully "Oh Promise Me" by Koven and "Ave Maria" by Remnig. Following the ceremony at the church the bridal party and guests repaired to Golden Hollow Inn, where a reception was held. Following the wedding collation, dancing was enjoyed. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Gronemeyer left for Washington, D. C., where they will spend their honeymoon. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Kingston High School. The bride is also a graduate of Russell Sage College and the groom who is a civil engineer is a graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic and a member of the Beta Psi Fraternity. Among the out of town guests at the wedding were several classmates of Mr. and Mrs. Gronemeyer from Troy. Many valued and handsome gifts were received by the many well-wishing friends of the young couple.

SOUTHWESTERN STORES, Inc.

A Grocery Chain

Common Stock, Current Price About $26

Listed on the New York Curb Market

SOUTHWESTERN STORES, INC., was formed in June, 1928, to acquire the business and assets of Gem Cash Stores of Tulsa, Oklahoma, the largest and most successful grocery chain in the State; and, in addition, to acquire other grocery chains owning 44 stores located in Oklahoma City, Muskogee, Guthrie, Okmulgee, and surrounding territories. This is the dominant grocery chain in one of the wealthiest territories west of the Mississippi River, owning 125 combined retail grocery stores and meat markets. Since its incorporation, the Company has been consolidating its territory, standardizing its units and modernizing its methods. As a self-contained group it is highly efficient, is developing rapidly, and has shown that it is capable of earnings equal to those of the most profitable chains in the country.

MANAGEMENT:

MR. ROBERT JACKSON, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF SOUTHWESTERN STORES, INC., IS ALSO PRESIDENT OF DOMINION STORES, LTD., WHICH IS THE LARGEST GROCERY CHAIN IN CANADA AND IN THE LAST FIVE YEARS HAS INCREASED ITS SALES 333% AND ITS EARNINGS 400%. MR. JACKSON IS VERY FAMILIAR WITH CHAIN STORE OPERATIONS AND IS ABLY ASSISTED BY EXECUTIVES FORMERLY WITH AMERICAN STORES, GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY AND DOMINION STORES, LTD.

1929 EXPANSION:

On January 7th last it was announced that the company had acquired the Blue Front group of stores in Seminole, Shawnee and Maud in Oklahoma, thus increasing the total number of stores in operation to 139. It is understood that negotiations are now pending for the acquisition of another chain consisting of 11 more stores, upon completion of which the total will increase to 150 stores. It is intended to open at least 250 more stores in the district where the original group has been operating and operations later will be extended into Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Northern Texas. There are over 7,000,000 people in the territory outlined, which is growing rapidly both in wealth and population. The acquisition of the Blue Front group is expected to increase the annual sales of Southwestern Stores, Inc., $1,000,000, bringing the total business to about $7,000,000 annually.

INVESTMENT POSSIBILITIES:

It is now recognized that, from an investment point of view, the stocks of grocery chains which dominate their particular field offer the best opportunities of almost any class of stocks in the present market. The most successful chain grocery operations have invariably been conducted by compact groups of stores operating either as independent chains or as units in one or other of the big national organizations. Such groups are always concentrated in a productive territory which they can dominate and which requires a minimum of expense for warehousing, trucking, and servicing. Its dominating position in a wealthy and productive territory makes Southwestern Stores a factor which cannot be ignored by any of the national groups expecting to link their organizations through this section of the country.

Having in mind the phenomenal success of present chain store corporations, we believe that the Common Stock of SOUTHWESTERN STORES, INC., affords an exceptional opportunity for profitable investment.

Board of Managers—Mrs. Philip Elting, Mrs. Williams Carter, Mrs. Frank L. Eastman, Mrs. John W. Eckert, Mrs. John Forsyth, Mrs. M. H. Herzog, Mrs. George Hutton, Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Mrs. Frank R. Bowley, Mrs. L. Phelps, Mrs. William H. Van Etten, Mrs. John G. Van Etten, Mrs. George Washburn, Mrs. Samuel M. Watts, Mrs. F. W. Warren.

Trustees — George Burgevin, Everett Fowler, Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, D. N. Mathews, John D. Schoonmaker, F. A. Waters, J. T. Washburn.

President's Report for 1928.

The following report was submitted by Mrs. Philip Elting, president of the Home:

Another year in the history of the Industrial Home has passed, and in looking back over the 52nd year we realize that it has been much the same as other years. There have been happy days and sad ones—the children have come—received kind and loving care, and then they too have gone out into the world. In every case each child has received special attention in order to give it the right start in life. Some children come to the institution when they are little tots, and have remained with us until they have arrived at the ages of 11 or 12. This year one boy who had been with us seven years wished to be sent out on a farm, a good home was found and it is a pleasure to visit the family and see him so happy, and how useful he is to his foster parents. To some children the Industrial Home is the only home they have ever known.

As will be noticed by Dr. Mambert's report sickness has been more prevalent than usual. This has been due to the cold rainy summer and the sudden changes in the weather throughout the year.

No words can express our gratitude and appreciation to the physicians, surgeons and specialists connected with the Home staff who give their time and services so willingly to the care of many helpless children. It is certainly a great deed of charity for a tired busy doctor to go for a month or more whenever he is called upon and minister to the children regardless of the disease.

The excellent condition of the children's teeth has often been commented upon. This is due to the wonderful care and attention that is given them by the dentists of the staff. Everyone knows how hard it is to attend to children's teeth and for busy dentists to treat, fill and extract teeth for so many children is a wonderful work, and we feel our words of appreciation are very inadequate. Our deep regret is that we cannot thank each person who has contributed or helped in some way toward the happiness and support of the children during 1928.

We again thank the merchants, mechanics, farmers, truckmen, lawyers, the press, schools, churches, Sunday schools, lodges, clubs and organizations of every description for their continued support.

For many years the Binnewater Lake Ice Company has donated all the ice and we again extend our thanks.

To Chief Murphy, the hero of every child in the institution, and his assistants, we are grateful for filling the fire extinguishers, burning preparations in the furnaces and stoves, to remove the soot from the chimneys and watching over the buildings so carefully thereby lessening the danger of fire.

To the kind policemen we offer our heartiest thanks. There is not a boy in the home who does not wish to be a policeman or fireman, "when he grows up".

How can anyone ever thank the Shriners. That organization is so a part of the home that it seems as if we were thanking our own family. We are so grateful for the annual ball and to everyone who contributes to it in anyway. From the proceeds of the last ball we were able to make some necessary repairs and improvements. These were new sinks in the kitchen and pantry of the main building. Storm doors on the porches of the same building which were greatly needed as they kept out so much cold. Necessary repairs to the hospital and quarantine cottage. Many other improvements and repairs are necessary but the managers wish to be as economical as possible as they never incur expenses unless they see their way clear to meet the bills when due.

We again extend our appreciation to the kind friends from Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Modena, New Paltz, Ulster Park, New Hurley, Rosendale, Hurley, Woodstock, Shady, Allaben, Chichester, Shandaken, Phoenicia, Ellenville, Kerhonkson, Accord, Katrine and Kingston, who sent so much canned fruit, vegetables, pickles and jelly, &c.

During the year we have cared for 53 children. We have received during the year eight. Returned to parents or guardians, 10. To committing offices, three. Transferred to other institutions, two. To free homes, one. Number of children in the Home January 9, 1929, 37.

We extend to all members of the "Home Staff" our deep appreciation for their faithful services in caring for the children under their care. There is nothing institutional about the place and each child receives a mother's care.

The Endowment Fund is increasing but it must be remembered that the rate of interest is low as the money can only be invested in securities which are absolutely safe. Of course only the interest is used for the support of the institution.

In the 52 years of the existence of the Home it has grown and developed. Of course the state laws must be obered, therefore the "running" of the institution has become a business. For the benefit of those who have never visited there I would like to describe it very briefly. There are three buildings. The quarantine cottage, where every child who has been admitted remains for at least two weeks. From there the child goes to the main building or "big house" as the children call it. There the child is classified, if under five it is placed in the nursery, if over five the boy is placed with boys from five up to twelve, our age limit. In the same way the girl is placed in the girl's department. In every case games, toys of all kinds, especially anything which is educational, is given to play with and learn from. In this building the children are taught to perform many domestic tasks. Several of the older boys attend to the children's dining room and wash the dishes used by the children. Other boys make the beds in the boys' dormitory, &c. One of the girls waits on the matrons' table. Others wash the dishes used in that dining room. Others make the beds in the girls' dormitory and two others help in the nursery. In performing these tasks the children receive training which will benefit them all through their lives. The third building is the hospital—our greatest comfort, for whenever a child shows the least symptom of illness it is taken there and cared for. If operations must be performed or if the case is very severe the child is taken either to the Kingston City Hospital or the Benedictine. The managers of the home can never express their appreciation to these hospitals for the care given to "our children". Naturally the expense of maintaining these three buildings is very large. Fuel, light and constant repairs—only those who own property can realize the amount. The children attend public school and mingle with the other pupils. The children are not dressed in uniform as in many institutions; and the managers are grateful at all times to receive clothing suitable for children from two to twelve.

Some Gala Days.

On August 1 the children, matrons, and managers were entertained at luncheon by Chief Murphy and the firemen at the Central Fire Station. In the afternoon all were conveyed in automobiles to the Broadway Theatre as guests of Mr. Lazarus. Needless to say it was a day long to be remembered. On August 29 occurred the annual picnic at Watson Hollow Inn given by the Shriners. The children always enjoy the auto ride and everything pertaining to the picnic. At Thanksgiving time the school children as usual brought gifts of every description to the home. If only the many contributors could see our happy children, each one would feel it was a real Thanksgiving. The high school contributed a goodly sum of money.

On December 22 the home family were guests of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The Christmas tree was beautiful and as the children were gathered around the table and the orchestra played "Silent Night" and one heard the childish voices singing a more beautiful Yuletide scene could not be imagined. They were transported to and from the hotel in the big bus by Mr. Von Gonsic.

The home was beautiful this year at the holiday season. Kind friends provided Christmas trees, greens, flowers and presents until the place looked like the abode of Santa Claus. The children sang their carols, played with their toys and ate an unusually good dinner, all contributed. On Christmas afternoon all waited and watched for the arrival of the delegation from Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., who for many years have visited the home and given each child a present. A very amusing sight was that of a little three-year-old girl who turned her back on a hobby horse and was made happy with a topsy doll. We can never thank these kind friends sufficiently but they are happy in making the children so happy.

It was with deep regret that the board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Charles Harold Lyford. She was a valued member of the board, a great friend of all the children, especially the boys, and the "best wishes of the home" went with her on her removal from Kingston.

We welcome on the board Mrs. Frank L. Eastman.

The managers of the home were fortunate in securing Mrs. Caroline B. Dickinson as superintendent. She assumed her duties on December 1.

During 1928 death claimed many of our friends. On March 22, Dr. Daniel Connelly passed away, and on October 19, Dr. John O'Leary entered into rest. Both were faithful physicians on the home staff.

In the death of Dr. Henry Behrens on April 1, and Dr. C. H. Bishop on May 1, the home sustained a great loss, as these dentists were members of the dental staff for many years.

On October 25, Mrs. Anna M. Gokey entered into eternal rest. Had her life been spared until November 17, she would have been 94 years of age. Mrs. Gokey was one of the original managers, and the first secretary to our Endowment Fund, and always a true friend in every way to the home.

On December 1, Miss Elizabeth Baker, superintendent of the home passed away.

"We awhile wait
But soon or late
Death opens the gate
Then cometh rest".

At the close of the old year, 1928, I extend to the "Home Family", managers, trustees and all friends of the children the hope that during 1929 you may have

"Love to make you happy
Health to make you blest
That is what I wish you
And leave to God the rest".

Respectfully submitted,
KATHARINE R. ELTING,
President.

MARTIN VAN BUREN ALSO WORSHIPPED IN FIRST DUTCH

In addition to the three Presidents of the United States mentioned in Friday's Freeman who worshipped with the congregation of the First Dutch Church was Martin Van Buren, who in 1839 with Washington Irving came to Kingston as the guest of General Joseph S. Smith, who built and lived in the house on Albany avenue which for the last forty years has been the residence of Judge Clearwater.

Mr. Van Buren prior to becoming Governor of New York in 1829 frequently visited Kingston where he had relatives among the Van Buren and Houghtaling families. General Smith was one of his ardent supporters and on the occasion of his visit with Washington Irving they attended the morning service at the First Dutch and spent the afternoon with the Hon. Abraham Bruyn Hasbrouck at St. Remy.

Senator Roscoe Conkling, who delivered his famous speech in support of General Grant for the presidency from the steps of the court house at the close of the campaign in 1872 and General Otis O. Howard, who represented the Grand Army of the Republic at the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Kingston, both attended service at the First Dutch, as did Schuyler Colfax while Vice-President of the United States. While here, he was the guest of the Hon. Thomas Cornell.

Many "Basic Patents"

The term "basic patent" is used ordinarily with much the same significance as "pioneer patent"—that is to say, as having reference to a patent covering an invention which represents a marked advance in some art, as when an inventor for the first time accomplishes a certain result. There have been a good many basic patents granted, from first to last, but no precise enumeration is possible, since opinions vary as to which patents are entitled to be so classed. We note Bell's patent on the telephone and Howe's patent for the sewing machine employing an eye-pointed needle. There are basic patents now in force for inventions relating to wireless, radio and other subjects.—Washington Star.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Sportsmen Will Dance Wednesday

The Rosendale Sportsmen's Association will hold a big dance in Firemen's Hall in Rosendale on Wednesday evening for which there has been a big advance sale of tickets. Last December the association started such a successful dance that they were requested to hold another. Paul Zanca and his six-piece orchestra will furnish the music for dancing and there will be special decorations and a general good time for all who attend. The state road between Kingston and Rosendale is in excellent shape for automobile traffic and free buses will leave the Central Postoffice at 8:30 o'clock that evening for the dance.

Main Bout Men Making Ready

Nick Zinna of this city and Tony Ross of New York, whom Zinna trimmed at the last boxing show here, are both making ready for their 10-round go at the armory this Friday night. Both boys are working earnestly to be in the best of shape for the setto. Nick is training daily at the armory under the direction of Sergeant James M. McCabe and expects to treat Ross in the same manner that he did at the last show.

Ross will come to Kingston with every anticipation of scalping Zinna. He is sure that his last bout with Nick revealed all the winning qualities of the Kingston boy, and Ross is ready to combat every trick that Zinna has in his bag.

The rest of the card also promises much to the fans, who visit the armory on Friday night of this week. Tickets are going rapidly and those who wish choice seats are advised to make arrangements for them as early as possible.

HOPSTERS IN TRAINING FOR MIAMI BEACH FIGHT

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 4 (AP).—The dopsters were in hard training today for the Sharkey-Stribling fight February 27, although the principals in the battle, of Miami Beach gave no indications of being overburdened with worry.

While Young Stribling, pride of Macon, Ga., and Jack Sharkey, erstwhile Boston gob, sought the surf and the golf courses in indifferent attempts at conditioning, the goggle-eyed groups which have watched the boxers' every mashie stroke since their arrival here last week, began their serious work of advance experting.

So far, the weather has led other topics in early speculation. It has been argued loudly that Sharkey, fresh from the cold north, will be handicapped by the balmy breezes, while the Georgian is conceded the advantage of knowing his weather.

Now that he has finished the signing of contracts, even down to the peanut concession, and has seen the stadium begin to grow, Promoter Jack Dempsey also apparently has cast aside care and has been engaged in counting ticket receipts.

Both Sharkey and Stribling believe their recent fights have put them in shape for the bout, and intend to engage only in light work.

Play-off Necessary.

Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 4 (AP).—Because of a triple tie an 18-hole play-off was necessary today to determine the new south central golf champion, successor to Macdonald Smith, who failed to defend his crown. Pirate Kid Catcher Makes Good

WHERE are the great catchers of yesterday? The wind has blown them all away, and big league club owners sigh and wonder when the wind of the baseball fates will blow another Freeman or Kling or Schalk or Killifer or Criger or Schang or Snyder into the game. Time was when there were plenty of great receivers, men who could handle their pitchers with craft and who could stop the ball in the pinches and whose work behind the bat thrilled the fans.

"O'Farrell of the Cards was such a man in 1926 and he was the talk of the circuit, but he had only one great year. Hartnett of the Cubs is a fine receiver, and Hogan of the Giants is regarded as a sure comer. But great catchers are coming to be very scarce. When the Pirates flashed young Hemsley, the rookie, on the baseball screen late last summer the experts did not watch him until they began to talk about him. He had that indefinable thing called class behind the bat. He had aptitude for the many critical plays that closed suddenly in on him. He was dangerous at the bat. He had speed and color and a lot of vim. So naturally they are looking forward with interest to what the youngster will do next season.

Ralston Hemsley is just twenty-one years old. He started his baseball career early. In fact, Hemsley started a lot of important things early in life. He was catching for his father's semipro team in Syracuse, Ohio, at the tender age of fourteen. He got married at eighteen. He was playing on the Frederick team in the Blue Ridge league at seventeen, and got his big league call at twenty.

Ralston Hemsley.

There must be some impelling cause for this youngster to crash the doors of opportunity so soon. He seems to have been born to the game. He loves it. Baseball is meat and drink to him. He chutes on the bench like a wolf cub when the pack sounds its hunting cry on the hills. He has two brothers, both catchers, one younger and one older than himself. The older brother, a Blue Ridge performer, talked about his sensational kinsman. "You simply could not hold Ralston back," he said. "He is a bundle of nerves and energy and he plays hard during the game and studies the game so hard all the rest of the time that he forged far ahead of everybody that he played with in his boyhood days."

PETE BRUCK STARS IN HIGHLAND'S VICTORY

Highland Hose Company basketball team furnished Wappingers Falls basketball fans with one of the most exciting games of the season when it met and defeated the quintet of that place Sunday afternoon by the score of 20 to 17. Pete Bruck of this city, who is captain of the Highlanders, played a stellar game at guard and came within one marker of equalling the score registered by the highest point-getter of the game. Three men were sent into the court war to put a damper on Pete's good work, but the trio could do nothing with him.

Cards Send Reinhart to Their Farm at Houston

Arthur R. Reinhart, left-hand pitcher, has been released on option by the St. Louis Cardinals to their Texas league farm at Houston. He is the third pitcher and ninth member of the pennant-winning club released by the Cards this winter.

The addition of Reinhart to the Houston pitching staff is expected to compensate for the loss of Bill Hallahan, whom the Cards recalled. Reinhart has been with the Cards since 1925 and will be thirty in May. In the four years, Reinhart has won 50 and lost 18, and 1928 was his only year to fall below .500.

PORT EWEN FORFEITS GAME TO WOODSTOCK

The Young Men's Club of Port Ewen forfeited a basketball game to the Woodstock A. C. at the latter's hall Saturday night. With the score standing 22-18 in their favor, at the end of the first half, the Port Ewens refused to continue the game because "Bub" Merrihew, the captain, was going in as substitute. Mr. Merrihew was elected captain of the team at the beginning of the season but business matters kept him from playing at all of the games. It was due to this fact that Port Ewen refused to recognize him as a member of the Woodstock team.
